A diagram showing a horizontal beam resting on a single triangular support. A diagonal line passes through the support, representing the line of action of the weight. The beam is labeled with 'W' at its center, indicating the weight acting downwards.
